

All right, listen up!

Believe it or not, MAD Magazine is celebratin' its 45th anniversary next year! How this piece of @$! stayed in business for 45 years is beyond me! Anyway, to celebrate, they're askin' you to send in a list of up to THREE OF YOUR ALL-TIME FAVORITE ARTICLES! From Issue #1 to Issue #345, it doesn't matter! To vote, use this form here, or a photocopy or write on another piece of paper! It's so easy, anyone can do it, although you'll probably mess it up because you're such a stupid son of a - HEY!!

To the Usual Gang of Idiots:
Here is the list of my all-time favorite MAD articles from the last 45 years (or at least the ones that didn't nauseate me as much!):

Greetings, gang! Elron here. Please pardon Mr. Maxwell's malicious malarkey. If you randy readers can recall the title, artist, writer, and/or issue the article(s) appeared in, we'll incorporate that interesting, insightful information, too. And tell us in a sentence or two why you picked what you did! Remember, as my wise old Uncle Slokum once said, "The pen is mightier than the sword, but only a meat thermometer can give you love!"

Remember, any atrocious article that's run in MAD from issue #1 to #345 is eligible! We'll feature the fans' foremost favorites in an upcoming Super Special, and we might even put you in there, too!
